AUTUMN COLLECTION 2013

New artists for Autumn 2013

Douglas Farthing MBE

MIXED MEDIA

Esgeford Studio has been looking for a contemporary military artist for some time to add to its portfolio. We are delighted to be able to show a selection of Douglas' work in the Autumn Collection. Douglas paints from his experiences as a soldier serving in Iraq and Afghanistan. His expressionist style captures the scenes of both combat and "everyday" situations whilst on patrol, and walking among civilians. He masterfully evokes the discordance between the beauty of his surroundings and the harsh realities of war. Douglas' work has been recognised for its contemporary poignancy by the National Army Museum which has chosen Pump House Contact as one of its top ten favourite paintings.

Jeremy Houghton

WATERCOLOUR

Jeremy Houghton is a highly prolific and collectable British Artist. Since 2005, when his full-time painting career began, he has achieved some notable commissions including officially painting HM the Queen in 2009, being selected as one of the official artists for the London 2012 Olympic Games and most recently he has been appointed Artist in Residence for HRH The Prince of Wales at Highgrove. Jeremy's love of countryside sports is arrestingly depicted in his dynamic and refreshing use of watercolour.
